PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

I would like to do my best to leave the world a better place for my grandchildren and future generations.

My qualifications, experience and background make me particularly skilled dealing with social justice, environmental, and political issues.

I am looking to using my skill authoring factual articles for my blog that help bring about positive change and hopefully motivate readers to become informed and active voters.

Politics is not a spectator sport.

GETTING IT DONE

I have gained a good understanding of how to accept a challenge and achieve an effective result with limited resources within a given time.
